

General Usage Instructions for Nutralin®

DESCRIPTION

Nutralin® is a patented nutritional supplement. Nutralin® is used in conjunction with insulin which can help maintain healthy blood glucose levels and promote improved overall health in diabetic dogs.* Speak with your veterinarian about Nutralin's impact on insulin requirements. Your results may vary. Use as directed by veterinarian. Use glucometer. A diabetic dog that is not being given enough insulin will not become regulated with the addition of Nutralin®. The dog's cells may become more sensitive to the insulin, but its blood glucose levels will not become regulated until adequate insulin is consistently administered.

FEEDING INSTRUCTIONS

Dogs 8-25 pounds (3.6-11 kilos)	1 "chewable"	twice daily	directly following insulin injection, 12 hours apart
Dogs 26-50 pounds (12-22.7 kilos)	2 "chewables"	twice daily	directly following insulin injection, 12 hours apart
Dogs 51-99 pounds (23-44.9 kilos)	3 "chewables"	twice daily	directly following insulin injection, 12 hours apart

How will you know that Nutralin® is working?

Nutralin® along with insulin are delivering the intended results when:

- blood glucose levels are in the 80-120 mg/dL range at mid-point of insulin cycle
(if using a 12-hour cycle insulin, mid-point is 6 hours after the insulin is administered)
- reduction in hyperglycemia-associated clinical signs including:
polyphagia - frequent hunger, especially pronounced hunger polydipsia - frequent thirst, especially excessive thirst polyuria - frequent urination
- healthy weight gain is noted
- increased energy levels are observed
- skin and coat return to previous condition

To maintain desired results, continue to administer insulin and Nutralin® as directed by your veterinarian.

Discontinuing use of Nutralin® may lead to hyperglycemia and other serious medical conditions.

WARNINGS

Use under the supervision of a licensed veterinarian. The use of a blood glucose monitoring kit is recommended. Owners are advised to watch for signs of hypoglycemia. Use of this product, even at established doses, can be associated with hypoglycemia. An animal with signs of hypoglycemia should be treated immediately. Glucose should be given orally as dictated by clinical signs. Insulin should be temporarily withheld and, subsequently, the dosage should be adjusted, if indicated. Any change in insulin should be made cautiously and only under a veterinarian's supervision.

KEEP OUT OF REACH OF CHILDREN

DO NOT FEED TO CATS

Signs of Hypoglycemia (low blood glucose levels)

Including, but not limited to: weakness, depression, behavioral changes, muscle twitching, anxiety, seizures, lethargy, loss of balance, trouble walking, and/or confusion. Should these signs present, consult a veterinarian immediately. Hypoglycemia (low blood glucose) is a very dangerous condition and is potentially fatal.
